CORRESPONDENCE SOLICITED.

We will be glad to correspond with any of our members who plan to be in Europe in November next. We want a delegation to the Roman Congress which in numbers and character will fitly represent the peace sentiment of the United States. Our delegates should be elected at our annual meeting, the last week in May.

CONVICTED OF CRIME.

It is said that 2000 ministers of religion have signed a protest against the adoption of Sir Charles Dilke, one of the ablest statesmen of Great Britain, by the Liberal party as a candidate for Parliament. Like Parnell he is an adulterer. The strange thing is that certain liberal politicians oppose him merely because the "dissenters" will not vote for him. They condone crime but court votes. The Roman Catholic Church is a unit against Parnell. Protestants and Catholics alike should forbid Dilke's return to place and power. If crime is not a bar to political promotion in a free country, government by the people is heavily discounted.

TWO GREAT VICTORIES.

We join with "Concord" in offering our hearty congratulations to friends and fellow-workers in Europe and America, that the telegraph (March 12, 1890), carried two messages of victory for the cause of reason and justice. The British and American Governments have agreed that the Behring Sea dispute shall be settled by arbitration; the British and French Governments have come to a similar agreement in reference to the Newfoundland Fisheries. These are the results of that steady growth of public opinion, which it is the great aim and work of Peace and Arbitration societies to create, and which they do create by the untiring service of written or spoken words. Every such triumph as those we now record constitutes fresh precedents, and render further triumphs more certain.

"THE BROTHERHOOD."

The Brotherhood is the title of a well-printed eight-paged monthly paper, edited and published by E. Norris, 36 Bromfield street, Boston. Its name indicates its object and its spirit. The annual subscription price is fifteen cents and one number is amply worth the money. It is not exclusively socialistic or churchly, but emphasizes love as the chief reformation principle and beneficence as the duty of all. To aid this work, it would remove the ancient landmarks of selfishness and greed and give to man as such by law, air to breathe, land to live on and water to drink. It would remove the material obstacles to moral and spiritual progress. Sample copies will be sent free.
